on Ticket.

Less than 400 of the city's 8,500 registered voters had cast ballots in the state-wide presidential primaries at noon today, based on reports from 16 of the 22 polling places.

These 16 precincts, representing each of the four wards of city, showed a total vote of 290, of which 250 were Republican ballots and 40 Democratic. With an average of 15 votes per precinct, the vote would be 396.

James S. Hilbert, chief deputy of the Columbiana county board of deputy state supervisors of elections, early this afternoon expressed the opinion that less than 1,500 votes would be cast here. If this figure holds true, the vote in the county, he said, would total less than 4,000.

Here is the vote by precincts at the noon hour:

First Ward—Precinct A, no report; Precinct B, no report; Precinct C, 9 Republicans, one Democrat; Precinct D, no votes cast.

Second Ward—Precinct A, 35 Republicans, 4 Democrats; Precinct B, 57 Republicans, 4 Democrats; Precinct C, 28 Republicans, 3 Democrats; Precinct D, no report; Precinct E, 19 Republicans, 4 Democrats; Precinct F, no report.

Third Ward—Precinct A, 9 Republicans, 4 Democrats; Precinct B, 14 Republicans, no Democrats; Precinct C, 4 Republicans, no Democrats; Precinct D, 25 Republicans, 2 Democrats.

Fourth Ward—Precinct A, no report; Precinct B, 22 Republicans, 3 Democrats; Precinct C, 10 Republicans, 2 Democrats; Precinct D, 9 Republicans, 4 Democrats; Precinct E, no report; Precinct F, 12 Republicans, 1 Democrat; Precinct G, 4 Republicans, 4 Democrats.

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review.)

A SMALL bust of a little girl, made by Houdon, the child's father, used to stand in Judge Gary's small room, off the hall, in his Fifth avenue house in New York. It used to be there with some furniture covered with anubian tapestry, for which Gary paid a fortune to Alavoine.

On Saturday the little Houdon Girl sold at auction for $245,000. Prices paid in America depend not on value, but on the ease with which $245,000 can be acquired.

Houdon's little girl was named Sabine in honor, presumably, of ladies carried away by Roman soldiers. Now little Sabine is carried away by American dollars.

THE REV. DR. STRATON wants to argue evolution with Mr. Osborn, head of the Museum of Natural History. Mr. Osborn believes that man developed on earth, like other animals, through millions of years of evolution.

Dr. Stratton says all living things, also the earth, sun, moon, stars, comets, clouds, oceans, etc., were created in one week by the will and power of God. He had existed from all eternity, he decided, about six thousand years ago, to create this earth, with man in his image, sun, moon, stars, etc., to light the earth for man.

Dr. Stratton says man was made from red earth in a few minutes. He looked lonesome in Eden, so a deep sleep was put upon him, one of his ribs removed, first surgical operation on record, and Eve was made from that rib.

For centuries clergymen taught that man had one more rib on one side than the other. Somebody counted the ribs of 1,200 male skeletons and the odd rib theory was dropped.

Herbert Mount Under Arrest in Los Angeles.

POLICE NOTIFIED
Confesses Tollhouse
and Gas Station
Robberies.

Herbert Mount, 24, Chester, under arrest in Los Angeles, Cal., upon charges of breaking and entering, highway robbery and the theft of an automobile, has signed a confession admitting the hold-up of the toll house on the Newell-East Liverpool bridge on March 25 and also the robbery of the East Liverpool Oil & Gas company's filling station, Pennsylvania avenue, police said today.

Mount in his confession, a copy of which was received yesterday by Chief McDermott, names Charles Walker, 26, of this city, also under arrest in Los Angeles, as his confederate. Miss Vera Waldron, 17, Pittsburgh, is also held by Los Angeles officials.

Young Mount was arrested by Los Angeles police about 10 days ago, following the robbery of a store. Two other men, who are alleged to have taken part in the robbery; Walker and the Waldron girl are said to have been taken into custody at the same time, although no charges have been preferred against the latter two.

FACES Coast Charges.
Los Angeles authorities will prosecute Mount upon charges of breaking and entering, highway robbery and the theft of an automobile but have agreed to turn Walker over to Columbiana county authorities if he is wanted. Otherwise he probably will be liberated in California.

Mount, police say, admitted that he, Walker and the girl started for California the day after the hold-up of John J. Patton, tollkeeper on the Newell-East Liverpool bridge on the night of March 25, when $70 was taken from the cash box. He also confessed to having robbed Leonard Wines, attendant at the East Liverpool Oil & Gas company's filling station on March 20, when $48 was stolen. The prisoner also claimed that the Buick coupe in which he made the trip to California was stolen in Warren, the license plates having been removed from another car at Lima.

Mount said that the overcoat which he wore belonged to an East Liverpool man.

German-Irish Fliers—May Leave Greenely Today.

CRAFT REPAIRED
Koehl Will Pilot Junkers From Island to Mainland.

LAKE ST. AGNES, Que., April 24.—From miles around, hardy trappers trekked here today to await the arrival of the Bremen and the two German fliers who have been marooned with it on ice-bound Greenely Island since the plane ended its epochal 36-hour westward flight over the North Atlantic, ten days ago, by burying its nose in the icy surface of the island reservoir. The fliers hoped to hop off this morning.

After the arrival of the Ford relief plane at Greenely Island yesterday, activity began with a vengeance. No sooner had Major James S. Fitzmaurice, Bert Balchen, Ernest Koepen, the Junkers mechanic, and the newspaperman debarked from the huge plane, than the repair parts for the Bremen were unloaded.

Koepen then began the work of putting a new propeller on the plane, then a new undercarriage was fitted to it.

The Bremen weighs several tons and must be moved by manpower as there is no other apparatus available.

Ford Plane on Job.

Captain Hermann Koehl will pilot the Bremen. He will be accompanied by Baron Ehrenfried von Huenefeld. Whether Major Fitzmaurice will come here in the Bremen also, or go in the Ford plane to aid Bert Balchen in handling the immense tri-motored monoplane and then change back to the Bremen here for the triumphant flight to New York, is not known.

The Ford plane brought both a land undercarriage and skis for the Bremen. Which will be used will depend on the weather.

Should the warmer weather bring a thaw here, the Ford plane will not fare so well in making a landing. It is equipped with skis only.

Body of Fejeral Schmitt Found at Hamilton.

HAMILTON, O., April 24.—Through a laundry mark in the clothing, a body found in the Miami river here Sunday, today had been identified as that of Fejeral Schmitt, 49, of this city.

His brother, Frank, said Schmitt left home Sunday morning saying, "If you see me again, it will be in the river."

Police today scouted the theory that two other bodies, with aviator's helmets on their heads, were seen at the same time that Schmitt's body was sighted. The other "bodies" which one man reported rolled over a dam, at the same time as Schmitt's, were logs, authorities believe.

169 Delegates at Stake in Republican
Presidential Primaries in Three StatesBy GEORGE R. HOLMES.
WASHINGTON, April 24.—Herbert Hoover's chances of obtaining the Republican presidential nomination at Kansas City seven weeks hence will be influenced—perhaps decisively—by the primary elections in three large and important states today, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Massachusetts.

The results in these three states, involving a bloc of 169 delegates, may furnish the answer to the politicians' constant query: "Can Hoover be stopped?" or, on the other hand, the results may not be decisive at all. They may be indeterminate enough merely to throw a little more light on the Republican pre-convention struggle between Hoover and "the allies," and furnish some additional conversational fuel.

Generally speaking, the practical politicians of Washington feel that today's contests will be important, but not necessarily decisive.

NO VOTES CAST
IN D, WARD 1

Despite the fact that six persons are members of the divisional election board, no votes had been cast in precinct D of the First ward at noon today.

Indicative of the general apathy in the presidential preference primaries, even precinct officers were neglecting to vote, a survey showed. Three Republicans and three Democrats serve on each precinct board.

Oil Man Admits He's Missing "Fourth Partner."

PROBE WITNESS
Explains Sinclair Case Prompted His Defiance.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the Standard Oil of Indiana, today told the senate oil inquiry that he received $759,500 of the Continental Trading company's mysterious $3,080,000 Liberty bond "slush fund."

Stewart said he transferred the bonds to a "trust fund" for the Standard Oil of Indiana and the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing company. In event of his death, Stewart said, the two companies would share equally in his share of the Continental bonds.

His testimony identified Stewart as the missing "fourth partner" in the Continental deal.

Created "Trust Fund."

Stewart testified that the bonds were turned over to him by Henry Smith Osler, president of the Continental, in 1922 and 1923 at meetings in Chicago and New York. He said he immediately created the "trust fund" and made Roy J. Barnett, a tax expert of his company, the trustee.

On last Saturday, with Harry F. Sinclair acquitted, Stewart said, he revealed the story of the bonds to the board of directors of the Standard Oil of Indiana. The directors decided to turn the bonds over to the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing company, he added. This delivery was made through Barnett on Saturday.

Senator Thomas J. Walsh (D) of Montana, first reminded Stewart that the Harry F. Sinclair case was ended, Stewart, when he defied the senate several weeks ago, said he did so because he was to be a witness in the Sinclair case.

Freed of Contempt Charges.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Col. Robert W. Stewart "fourth partner" in the Continental company's slush fund, freed himself of prosecution by the senate on a contempt charge by his testimony today, Senator Walsh (D) of Montana, announced this afternoon. Stewart, however, will not escape prosecution for contempt in the federal courts, Walsh added.

This feature has been arranged in observance of American Forestry Week.

Ohio Cynosure of Eyes.

Ohio, the cockpit of so many political struggles, is the cynosure of political eyes. It is there that Hoover elected to stride into the open with his candidacy and give battle against Senator Frank B. Willis, Ohio's favorite son, whose death a few weeks ago has thrown all of the political calculators into confusion. Ohio will afford the clearest insight into Hoover's popular strength despite the death of Willis, because the friends of all the other candidates, Dawes, Lowden, Curtis, Watson, have rallied to the Willis cause, affording a test of Hoover against the field.

The stake in Ohio comprises 51 delegates. The Hoover managers in Washington claim a majority of the delegation will be theirs after today. Some of the more optimistic claim 45 or 36 of the 51, but most observers here consider this latter claim to be extravagant.

SCHOOL BOARD
VOTES O. K. OF
SPORTS FIELD
IMPROVEMENTS

Program Approved at Conference With Engineer.

TO COST $71,000
Discuss Teachers' Salaries Behind Closed Doors.

Approval of the plans for the proposed improvement of the Patterson athletic field was voted by the board of education at a special meeting last night; following a conference with J. R. Daugherty, Youngstown engineer.

In compliance with a contract entered into with Daugherty by the old board of education last fall, a warrant for $660, representing one-third of the five per cent fee for the erection of the proposed concrete stands, was ordered drawn from school board funds.

The plans call for an expenditure of approximately $71,000, according to the engineer's estimates. Drainage, fence and grading will cost $31,625, while the stands, with a seating capacity of more than 3,000 persons, will require an outlay of $39,600.

Ready to Begin Work.

Daugherty explained that practically all the preliminary surveys have been completed and that he is ready to begin work. He asks that the board purchase a small triangular tract of ground, belonging to Charles Shelton, facing West Fourth street extension, as means of "squaring up" the corner of the field and to eliminate crowding of the tennis courts.

The board explained to the engineer that the improvements will be undertaken from time to time as the money is available, and that funds for the first step would be available this year. It is also understood that the plans are subject to a change at any time.

The engineer said that he would have a "pleasant surprise" for the board at their regular meeting on May 3.

W. A. Macdonald, operator of Rock Springs park, Chester, appeared before the board to discuss plans for the annual school children's picnic which will be held on Saturday, June 2. Hearing Held Before Riddle.

Carl O. Kohl, 19, Hanover township, who, county authorities say, shot and killed Daniel Ruff, 78, a neighboring farmer at East Rochester last Tuesday night, was adjudged insane at an inquest before Probate Judge Lodge Riddle, Lisbon, yesterday afternoon. He probably will be committed to the state hospital for the criminal insane at Lima.

Two Physicians Examine Boy.

The youth was examined by Drs. Seward Harris and William Johnson, Lisbon. Rudolph Kohl, father of boy, testified that his son had received treatment at the Gallipolis state hospital in 1922 and later at the Massillon state hospital.

"A man with a white face and wearing a yellow coat told me to shoot Mr. Ruff," the boy said during the examination.

"I would have gotten a beating if I told them at home that I had shot Mr. Ruff," the boy declared. "That's why I said that Mr. Ruff committed suicide."

Prisoner Explains Shooting.

"How did you shoot the man?" young Kohl was asked.

"I picked the shotgun from the corner, but it against my shoulder, aimed, pulled the trigger and he fell down, but he rolled over several times after that," the lad replied.

"What did you do with the gun?" "The gun 'kicked' and it fell in the blood, and I wiped it off and put it back in the corner."

The boy expressed regret he had been unable to attend the trial of his victim.

C. C. CLINE HEADS
MERCHANTS' UNIT

C. C. Cline, Fifth street clothier, was elected president of the Merchants' Protective Association, at an organization meeting in the Chamber of Commerce rooms in the Little building yesterday. The association is a branch of the Retail Merchants' division of the Chamber of Commerce.

I. A. Burbick, hardware dealer, was named vice-president, while Gus Bendheim, shoe merchant, was chosen treasurer. The trustees include the three officers, and Donald Smith and Leon Rubin. A secretary will be named by the board.

Two automobiles were reported stolen here last night. One was a Hudson coach, owned by Peter Milliron, Second street, while parked near the Dean grocery, Jresden avenue. The other car was a Chevrolet sedan belonging to Frank Myers, 1839 Ohio avenue, which was stolen while parked in Harvey avenue. License on the Milliron car was D2 4-262, while that on Myers machine was A 1-340.

GENTRY CIRCUS
COMING MAY 12

Permit is Granted for Exhibition in West End.

Gentry Brothers' Circus, 25-car organization, will exhibit at Patterson field, Saturday, May 12, the permit having been granted today by Mayor Ralph C. Benedum.

The show, which features dog and pony acts, visited East Liverpool about three years ago. It is one of the few circuses which gives the forenoon street parade, scheduled for 11 o'clock.

This will probably be the last season that the West Eighth street athletic lot will be available for circuses as the proposed improvements to the lot, to be started by the board of education this year, will bar automobiles, wagons and other vehicles from the grounds.

ANNIE LAURIE'S TIMELY ADVICE

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my teens. I have a number of boy friends in town and out of town who write to me all the time.

Quite a few of the boys ask me out, and I say yes. But when the hour comes they never come after me.

When I go to a dance they ask me for a dance, and I bowl them out about the date and they make all kinds of excuses.

What should I do about it?

POPULAR SUE: Since it avails you nothing to reproach these boys when you meet them at a dance I would advise you to discontinue doing this. In fact, I think it unnecessary for you to make any further mention of this rude practice and I would advise you instead to refuse dates to the boys who have failed to keep their previous appointments with you. Develop your other friendships and do not be concerned about people who are so rude. Be more discriminating in your choice of friends and you will avoid problems of this sort.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl of sixteen, and very fond of a boy one year my senior. We live quite a distance apart and he very seldom comes to see me.

I have many boy friends, who are always asking me to go out, but the boy I like best is of a very jealous disposition, and I know if he ever saw me out with another boy he'd never get over it.

Shall I start going with other boys and not care what he thinks about it? Please advise me? BOBBIE.

BOBBIE: I would suggest that you have a talk with your friend, my dear, and make him realize that his jealousy is unreasonable and quite selfish. There is no reason why you should not have many friends and, since he cannot see you frequently, it is selfish of him to wish to deprive you of the pleasure and diversion your other friends might offer you. Talk the matter over with him and explain that while you wish to retain him as a friend, you do not intend to limit your friendship to him alone. I am sure he will appreciate the reasonableness of your attitude.

CONSTIPATION PREYS ON HEALTH

You can overcome it with ALL-BRAN

If you are troubled with constipation, read Mrs. Hogan's letter below. It came to us unsolicited—a message of relief to every sufferer:

February 12, 1927
"I want to tell you how much good your ALL-BRAN has done me. It surely can't be beat for constipation. I have tried every kind of medicine and never in my whole life have been relieved until one of my neighbors told me to try bran. So I bought a box and read about your ALL-BRAN and thought I would see what it would do—and it surely did help me. I will never be without it in the house again."

1215 Clay St., Topeka, Kansas.
Constipation is almost universal. The cause of more than forty diseases. Dizziness, aching backs, circled eyes, bad complexions, are only a few of its symptoms.

Guard against it. Start tomorrow eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Two tablespoonsful daily—chronic cases, with every meal. Guaranteed. Doctors recommend it.

A healthful cereal. Serve ALL-BRAN with milk or cream—and add fruits or honey. Sprinkle it into soups. Use it in cooking. Sold by all grocers. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

How to buy
Gas Range—

TAKE ONE GOOD LOOK at the Gas Range. If it has the broiler, the part that requires constant watching when in use, down below the oven, so you have to stoop to look into it, stop right there. The Direct Action Gas Range has a separate broiler, with separate burner above the oven, near the eye-level, entirely independent of the oven. In the Direct Action you can bake slowly and broil quickly at the same time.

In addition, the Direct Action has the famous, exclusive, "Elastic" Oven, that is so easily expanded to greater capacity when needed.

Direct Action ovens have no heavy plates to warp, rust or burn out. They never need pre-heating, because the heat acts directly on the food to be cooked. Come in and see. We'll be glad to explain these features, without obligating you.

Why buy a stove that lasts for years without seeing the most convenient and economical Gas Range—the Direct Action with Red Wheel Self-regulating Oven.

Motor Safety Week

This is Motor Safety Week in Ohio.

Automobile operators, especially drivers who are doing their utmost to reduce the appalling annual toll of life exacted by motor vehicles, are expected to co-operate with the Columbiana County Motor club and other agencies in observance of the period designated by Governor A. V. Donahey.

The purpose is not only to drive home to traffic maniacs the costliness of recklessness, but also to impress upon the careful motorist the importance of keeping the safety mechanism and equipment of their cars in good condition.

In other words, state, county and municipal authorities as well as safety councils and automobile clubs urge that drivers make certain whether the brakes, headlights and other parts of their cars need repairs.

It will pay every motorist to heed this admonition given in the governor's proclamation:

"The mania for speed in our modern-day civilization make the elimination of traffic accidents impossible. All motorists, however, can help by keeping the safety mechanism and equipment of their automobiles in good condition and properly adjusted. Experience has demonstrated that many accidents involving motor vehicles are indirectly chargeable to defective brakes, to the use of only one headlight or to glaring headlights.

"It is certain that careful and periodical inspection of this mechanism and equipment will eliminate a large number of accidents chargeable to such defects."

Let's make Motor Safety Week mean something in East Liverpool.

Ocean Flying Hazards

Successful navigation of the north Atlantic by the German plane, Bremen, quite possibly has shed no little light on the probable fate of those other hardy adventurers who essayed the passage, but who were never again heard from.

Difficulty of combating adverse winds off the North American coast, of overcoming fogs as thick as the blackness of night, of measuring a gasoline supply to the point that sufficient fuel will be carried to overcome the handicaps imposed by nature, now are a matter of record, since Koehl, Fitzmaurice and von Huenefeld were successful in flying the sea.

And it seems to be the consensus of these airmen that those other fliers—the Frenchmen, Nungesser and Coli, and the Englishmen, Hincheliff and Elsie Mackay, and the American, Mrs. Grayson, and her compatriots—were lost in the bleak, rock-bound and ice-infested waters off the Labrador coast—as treacherous a bit of sea as may be found anywhere one may attempt navigation.

Apparently, judging from what has trickled over the wireless and telegraph wire from the sparsely settled countryside where the Bremen landed, the greatest difficulty in trans-Atlantic flying is encountered immediately contiguous to the North American coast. In other words, there are elements in that section which airmen must battle, if they are to be successful, which they do not encounter anywhere else on the perilous voyage.

Thus it may be that flying from west to east is a more simple matter than flying from east to west, inasmuch as the elements encountered on the European side apparently are less dangerous than those encountered on the North American side of the Atlantic.

Who will say that Nungesser and Coli, or Miss Mackay and Captain Hincheliff failed in crossing the sea, in view of what the men aboard the Bremen encountered on this side of the Atlantic? It is not quite probable these adventurers successfully flew the ocean, only to be battered to death in the impassable fastnesses of Labrador or some other part of the country thereabout which is uninhabited?

It is most fortunate, airmen agree, that the Bremen landed at a point on the North American continent where rescue was possible. It is most fortunate for two reasons, first, that no lives were lost in the passage, and secondly—and this is of more importance to science—these airmen were spared to give to science the results of their experiences, that these elements may be guarded against in the future, and that other flights may at the outset overcome the handicaps which have beset the pioneers.

Men and women will continue to offer their lives in the endeavor to successfully navigate the Atlantic by air. It is idle waste of breath to attempt to stop them. This being the case, the next best thing possible is to make the passage as nearly free from unnecessary dangers as possible. And von Huenefeld, Fitzmaurice and Koehl will have important additions to scientific data when they are once more on the mainland where it is possible for them to sit down and collect their thoughts and make their deductions.

Militant Bishop Dies

In the death of Bishop James Edward Dickey of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, there passes out of the picture one of the militant gentlemen responsible to a large degree for the growth of his faith in the Southland—a picturesque preacher, college president and bishop.

Bishop Dickey was called a son of the paragonage, and was known far and wide as a staunch fundamentalist and an anti-unionist. He was one of the five southern bishops, who, in 1925, violently opposed the movement to unite the northern and southern organizations of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Before his elevation to the episcopacy, Bishop Dickey gave the church twenty-one years of educational service, including eight as a professor at Emory college and thirteen as president of the same institution. Bishop Dickey was born in Georgia.

Bishop Dickey's ability as leader was recognized when the church honored him by elevating him as representative to important conferences. The followers of Bishop Dickey's faith and teachings will miss their leader.

Don't forget to vote. The polls will be open until 6:30 p. m.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 24.—The Department of Justice at Washington is in general charge of all federal penitentiaries and keeps in close touch with how things are going in those institutions. Many reports come in regarding management, condition of prisoners, and such matters and the most interesting are those which indicate the type of prisoners and the kind of life led by them.

Prison, it appears, is not so bad after all, provided the prisoner has money or has friends on the outside willing to provide him with the luxuries of life.

The federal penitentiary at Atlanta is the best one to pick if one decides to get himself immersed for a while. The classification list should furnish an interesting study to psychologists. Of course out of the approximately three thousand inmates many are burglars, laborers, vagrants, and persons with no profession save that of crime, but of those who were engaged in definite trades or professions at the time of their incarceration the barbers head the list. There seems no surface explanation for this but perhaps a psychiatrist could evolve a theory.

Professional cooks come second. The odd thing is that there is a very large hiatus between the barbers and cooks on the one hand and other classes on the other. In each of the barber and cook classes there are more than twice as many inmates as in any other professional class.

Next in line come printers. Physicians and engineers stand next in rank.

Bankers come next. All the above classes, with the exception of the barbers and cooks, are fairly closely bunched as to numbers in each class. Then there is a sharp drop to the next in rank, the lawyers. In practically the same numerical class with the lawyers, but slightly below them, come the musicians.

The number in other classes are relatively so low as scarcely to be worth while classifying numerically. There are about the same number in each class. These include theatrical producers, authors and actors, dentists, watchmakers, publishers and pugilists, baseball players, and teachers.

Atlanta might be compared to the Old Fleet in London. This was a debtors' prison and some of the inmates had a very jolly time. Some of the leading wits of London were to be found there. Under English law they were kept in prison until their debts were paid. The famous Charles James Fox, afterwards one of England's leading statesmen, was at one time in the Fleet prison.

While not having enough money to pay their debts, they had or were provided by friends with enough to buy good food and plenty of wine.

There is another side to the stories of both Atlanta and the Fleet. The penniless man with no one to send him money or luxuries from outside, is in bad case. He must subsist on the hard prison fare, usually is too downcast to be interested in any communication with his fellow inmates, and undergoes a trying ordeal.

Questions And Answers

By Frederic J. Haskin.

This newspaper puts at your disposal a corps of trained researchers in Washington who will answer questions for you. They have access to the government departments, the libraries, museums, galleries, and public buildings, and to the numerous associations which maintain headquarters in the nation's capital. If they can be of assistance to you, write your question plainly, and send with a two cent stamp to the East Liverpool Review Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director Washington, D. C.

Q. What is the cost of burning city garbage? S. B. A. The cost of incinerating garbage in the United States ranges from $250 to $1000 per annum per 1000 of population, the average being about $600.

Q. How is the Indian name Yaqui pronounced? G. C. C. A. Yaqui is pronounced as though it were spelled "yah-kee," accented on the second syllable.

Q. What is a Manhattan sandwich? M. G. A. A New York chef says that a Manhattan sandwich has a filling of fried egg, minced ham, and onion.

Q. What proportion of oil should be added to white lead? G. P. T. A. Every 100 pounds of white lead requires at least 7 1/2 gallons of linseed oil.

Q. What will make steel rust-proof? E. M. A. Caoutchouc oil is said to have proved efficient in preventing rust, and to have been adopted by the German army. It only requires to be spread with a piece of flannel, in a very thin layer, over the metallic surface and allowed to dry up. Such a coating will afford security against all atmospheric influences and will not show any cracks under the microscope after a year's standing. To remove it, the article has simply to be treated with caoutchouc oil again, and washed after 12 to 24 hours.

Q. Is the wife of Count Keyserling related to the famous Bismarck? W. N. A. The wife of Count Keyserling is a granddaughter of the famous Bismarck.

Q. What is the rule of thumb? R. W. C. A. The rule of thumb has reference to the method of procedure derived entirely from practice or experience without any basis in scientific knowledge.

Q. Please inform me whether the authenticity of the Kensington Rune Stone has been established? A. G. S. A. Dr. Walter Hough, Head Curator of Anthropology of the Smithsonian Institution makes following statement: "This stone was established as a fake by the confession of the man who inscribed it. The work was cleverly done and deceived many, but a scholar found that a few runes not in use in 1362 were used and finally the faker made a clean breast of it."

Q. What punishments were given to criminals in Rome? F. P. R. A. The following punishments were meted out to the offender in ancient Rome: the multa or fine; vincula, imprisonment or fetters; verbera, or stripes; talio or infliction of punishment similar to injury, i. e., limb for a limb; infamia, public disgrace, by which the delinquent, besides being scandalized, was rendered incapable of holding public office and deprived of other privileges of Roman citizenship; exilium, banishment; death by beheading, scourging, strangling, or throwing the criminal headlong from the Tiberian rock, or from a place in a prison, from the Robour.

Never an Iron on My Hair

Wherever my theatrical engagements happen to take me I could have a marcel, but I never do. I prefer my own method—waving my hair with my Wave and Sheen.

I always keep my hair clean by shampooing once a week. I apply Wave and Sheen with a comb. You can use a brush, or just your hands.

I dampen the hair with it—insert combs in the direction I wish the waves, tie a veil over my hair and keep it on for about an hour, some less.

The result is a soft, lovely, undulating wave. Most people in my audience think I have it marceled. Many ask whether it is a natural wave. It is not.

You can have this same sheen no matter what method you use to wave your hair. Get a bottle at any toilet counter for 75 cents. One trial will convince you as it has thousands of others.

Myrna Loy, Warner Bros. Star, and the luxurious bathroom designed for her rare, auburn-haired beauty!

"THE MOST APPEALING CHARM of all is a lovely, smooth skin. A screen star's must be the genuine article to triumph in the searching close-ups. Only the slightest make-up can get by those lights—the skin must be smooth."

Howard Bretherton, Director for WARNER BROS.

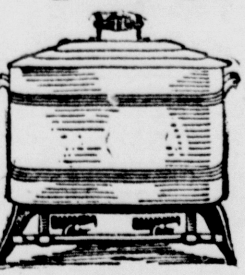

¶ Nine out of ten screen stars use Lux Toilet Soap! ¶ It cares for their skin the true French way. The great film companies have made it the official soap in their studio dressing rooms. ¶ Enjoy—even in hard water—the instant lather you loved in French soaps but until now could only get at 50¢ or $1.00 a cake—now it's just TEN CENTS!

Lux Toilet Soap certainly leaves my skin beautifully smooth—I think it's wonderful.

MILL WORKER SERIOUSLY INJURED IN TORONTO FIGHT

WILLIAM PRICE MAY DIE FROM BLOW OF TONGS

Former Wellsville Man in Critical Condition.

ASSAILANT HELD

"Ace" Parsons, Claiming Self-defense, Surrenders.

William Price, 45, familiarly known throughout the Wellsville district as "Wild Bill," was in a critical condition in the hospital of the Follansbee Brothers' plant at Toronto at noon today as a result of injuries sustained at 2 o'clock this morning when he was struck over the head with a pair of tongs.

"Ace" Parsons, of Millwood, W. Va., a fellow workman, alleged assailant, who claims self-defense, gave himself up to mill police immediately after the fight with Price. The mill authorities turned him over to Toronto municipal police. He is being held in jail there pending the outcome of Price's injuries.

Toronto authorities at noon expressed the fear that Price would not live. The millman had not recovered consciousness.

Price and Parsons were both employed in the normalizing department of the mill. According to Toronto police and mill men, there had been ill feeling between the two for several months.

This morning the alleged feud was brought to a climax when the two fought openly in the mill. Parsons, it is said, seized a pair of tongs and struck Price over the head.

Price has been employed at the Toronto mill for four years. For a number of years he lived in Wellsville.

51 WOMEN FACE RIOTING COUNT

Belmont County Mine Zone Marchers Await Hearings.

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., April 24.—The 51 women arrested here Saturday when they marched into the Belmont county jail, will be arraigned this afternoon on one of three charges, rioting, inciting to riot, or breach of the peace, it was declared today by Prosecutor Paul Waddell. The women had marched from Minton Hollow mine, near Bridgeport, after five alleged leaders in a "Save the Union" demonstration had been placed under arrest, after a demonstration at the mine of the Shady Side Coal company.

Three more alleged leaders of the John Brophy "Save the Union" faction were under arrest here today, after attempting to hold a meeting at the Crescent mine last night. The arrests were made under the direction of Col. Don Caldwell of the Ohio National Guard and Sheriff Clyde Hardisty. Nine alleged leaders of this faction are now under arrest. Those arrested last night registered as Joe Webber, 24, and Andy Plecharty, 27, both said to be from the western Pennsylvania fields, and Frank Seich, 24, of Neff.

Reports received here today were that West Virginia state police and railroad detectives were being sent into the coal fields of West Virginia, bordering on the Ohio state line.

MILITANT MINE LEADER OUSTED AT UNION MEET

Oral Daugherty is Charged With Insubordination.

BELL PRESIDENT Expel Men Who Marched in Protest Against U. M. W.

COLUMBUS, O., April 24.—Oral Daugherty, militant young Hocking valley mine leader, today had been ousted from his post as president of the Nelsonville sub-district on charges of insubordination and disloyalty brought against him in a meeting of the district executive board of the United Mine Workers of America here last night.

Robert Bell, vice-president of the sub-district, automatically becomes president.

Several hundred union men who have taken part in marches and other demonstrations of protest against the union were ordered expelled from the organization at last night's meeting.

The board said the drastic moves were taken, "to preserve harmony within the ranks of the organization and to discipline 'Save the Union' marches."

Relief Committee Hit.

Dismissal of Daugherty, it was announced, resulted from "his action in publicly opposing policies of the organization and for failing to comply with obligations required of a member of the United Mine Workers."

The Ohio-Pennsylvania relief committee is the target for another expulsion order. Local unions are ordered to expel members of this committee, as well as any persons in sympathy with the 'Save the Union' faction, which is led by John Brophy, of Pennsylvania, and seeks the removal of John Lewis, president of the U. M. W.

Any local unions which fail to comply with the orders to expel such members may suffer the penalty of having their charters revoked, the board warns. The Ohio-Pennsylvania relief committee was accused of "radical and communistic tendencies."

George Savage, secretary and treasurer of the Ohio district of the U. M. W., said last night that between 200 and 300 unionists, who have taken part in "protest marches," are liable to expulsion by last night's order.

Daugherty was present at last night's meeting but left after he had been removed as president of the sub-district and as a member of the board. Daugherty has several times, it is said, made speeches in which he attacked the policies of the U. M. W. international board, and refused to make retractions. Two weeks ago, at a mass meeting he told union miners that they must either seek other employment, go back to work on any terms they could make with operators, or starve.

Present at the meeting last night were: Lee Hall, president of district No. 6 (Ohio) of the United Mine Workers; David Watkins, vice-president of the organization; George Savage, secretary and treasurer of the sub-district, and the following sub-district presidents: Richard Campbell of Pomeroy; John Clinque of Bellaire; Thomas Price of Midvale; John Walker of Cambridge; and John W. Jones of Bergholz.

Chamberlin was reticent about his plans and fought shy of the admiring group of natives which swarmed about him. It is believed he intends to escort the Bremen from here to New York in another plane as a mark of courtesy for the honor paid him in Germany when he was there.

Chamberlin's arrival was hailed with glee by a dumb but none the less grateful denizen of the northlands—a hen of the ordinary variety.

Dr. Pearce Commencement Speaker. Superintendent of Schools C. S. McVay announced that he had engaged Dr. McLeod M. Pearce, president of Geneva college, Beaver Falls, as the commencement speaker here on Thursday, May 24. The plan of having the baccalaureate service in one of the downtown churches will be referred to the Ministerial association.

The board also took up the matter of employing teachers for the 1928-29 school term. At least two elementary teachers and two additional high school instructors will be needed to take care of the increased enrollment. Employment of a second school nurse, an opportunity school teacher and a research teacher, was also recommended by Superintendent McVay but no action was taken.

The board discussed teachers' salaries behind closed doors.

WORKS 50 YEARS, DIES SUDDENLY

SANDUSKY, O., April 24.—Thomas H. Geisseman, 72, veteran telegrapher, who, although tendered many managerial offices by the Western Union Telegraph company, would have nothing but an operator's position here, and who, it is said, never took a vacation during more than 50 years, died suddenly today from a heart attack.

SENATOR REED IN FIGHT IN WEST VIRGINIA

Missouri Democrat Will Present Complete Slate.

SPEAKING TOUR

Decision Means Gov. Al Smith Faces Battle.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Senator James A. Reed (D., of Missouri) will enter the West Virginia primary and present a complete slate of delegates, it was officially announced here today.

Reed's name will be filed some time between now and April 29, the last filing date, and the senator will embark tomorrow on another speaking trip into the state, with dates at Lewisburg April 25 and Huntington April 26.

The decision to go into West Virginia was taken to mean that the Missouri has no intention of letting the nomination go to Gov. Al Smith by default.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, April 24.—Delaware and Hudson's spectacular 8 point jump to a new high at 222 was the principal feature of early trading in stocks today. Efforts of the bulls to rally the market centered around Round General Motors and United States Steel, which were jacked up about 2 points on the average in the first half hour. The tobacco stocks and the oils were active, the former registering a moderate recovery from Monday's violent slump.

Advance of the Richmond Reserve bank rate to 4½ per cent made the fourth of the government banks to fall in line with the higher rate policy. Similar action is confidently expected at the other banks this week, with New York making the change to the 4½ per cent rate on Thursday. The call loan rate was unchanged at 5 per cent.

Stocks were freely offered in the first period, but strong bullish support behind the market leaders helped to turn the tide in favor of higher prices, and good buying of the industrials from outside sources was also in progress. Lorillard tobacco held at about a point above yesterday's reactionary close, and Radio was whipped along to 177 for a 3½ point gain. The Standard Oils continued to display strong leadership in that section of the list, and National Cash Register led a moderate rally in the specialties. Stocks of the Southern Dairies company improved on yesterday's best prices.

PILOT BENNETT 'VERY SICK MAN,' SAYS DOCTOR

Byrd's Flying Pal Fights Ravages of Pneumonia.

WIFE AT SIDE

Airman is Receiving Oxygen Treatment at Quebec.

QUEBEC, Que., April 24.—Gately resister the ravages of double pneumonia and pleurisy, Floyd Bennett, who piloted commander Richard E. Byrd's plane to the North Pole and back, was fighting for his life today at the Jeffery Hale hospital here.

Dr. Alvin L. Barach, a specialist at the Presbyterian hospital who arrived here from New York with Mrs. Bennett yesterday afternoon, is pessimistic about the flier's condition.

After viewing two X-ray pictures in consultation with Dr. William H. Delaney, superintendent of the hospital, Dr. Barach made the following announcement to newspapermen:

"Mr. Bennett is suffering from double pneumonia and pleurisy. He is a very sick man. His temperature is 103 and his pulse 124. I do not expect the crisis for two or three days and have made arrangements to stay here for several days at least."

Bennett is receiving oxygen treatment. Dr. Barach brought two tanks from New York with him and immediately after his arrival telephoned for five more.

Mrs. Bennett was allowed to stay with her husband only for a few minutes.

The clergyman and scientist, debating, would find it hard to agree on any starting point. Mr. Osborn says our pithecanthropoid, or monkeyman, ancestors left their life in trees about 15,000,000 years ago, and started life in the open. To that the Rev. Dr. Stratton could only reply, "You're a liar," and add, "See what is written in this Book of Genesis." You could not call that a "debate."

ON Saturday Rome celebrated its two thousand six hundred and eighty-first birthday. And Rome today is as energetic, powerful and intensely earnest as at any time in the past 2,681 years.

Marvelous are the Italian people, with their tireless leader, Mussolini. For more than 25 centuries they have contributed great men to the world, some among them the greatest in the world.

MUSSOLINI celebrates his happy birthday by inaugurating great public works.

One of his birthday presents to the great city will be the finest airport in the world.

This country, 2,529 years younger than Rome and ten times as rich as Italy, has two of its greatest cities, New York on the Atlantic, Los Angeles on the Pacific, with no airport worthy of mention. We ought to find a Mussolini.

THE small monoplane that carried Captains Wilkins over the Polar sea weighs only 1,650 pounds, goes 135 miles an hour, and was created by Alvin Loughead. The load carried weighed as much as the plane.

Similar powerful little machines will soon be the pride of many young fliers.

CAPTAIN WILKINS deserved success. He smashed five planes in previous efforts to conquer the Arctic. Australia, his fatherland, offered him the job of air minister, but he prefers work more dangerous. He was a newspaper man in the Balkan ward, an aviator in the World war and went with Shackleton on the Antarctic expedition that cost Shackleton his life.

GEORGE BERNARD SHAW offers Socialism as a remedy for war, poverty, disease, marriage troubles, drunkenness and other social evils. His "The Intelligent Woman's Guide to Socialism and Capitalism" tells about it.

Socialism, Shaw brand, would facilitate divorce. Any married woman could walk out, free as air, if she wanted to. And that, says Shaw, would make marriage permanent, and happier. Husbands would live in dread of finding the lady gone, and behave.

There would be no alimony, for that would be blackmail, says Shaw.

ALL amusing. But Mr. Shaw's ideas would not work in the Congo, where the native crouches beside his decaying rhinoceros until his stomach is distended, then goes home to sleep it off.

And they won't work in our civilization, only a few thousand years from the Congo state.

LAWs socialistic, plutocratic or otherwise do not change human beings fundamentally. They only reflect human beings as they are.

Not socialism, but fifty thousand years of work and disappointments are needed to do the things enumerated by Shaw. Discussion and suggestions, even foolish ones, are useful, however. Any hypothesis is better than none.

TRAIN KILLS MARIETTA MAN

COSHOCOTON, O., April 24.—The body of C. H. Bierchwal, of Marietta, engineer of the Cambridge and Marietta division of the Pennsylvania railroad, was being held here today pending arrangements of the dead man's family.

Bierchwal was found fatally injured yesterday evening under his engine by members of his crew. The exact manner in which he met death is unknown. He was brought to the city hospital here where he died at 10:40 last night.

ARCTIC PLANE HELD IN ICE

Capt. Wilkins' Craft Damaged at Green Harbor.

OSLO, Norway, April 24.—While the world lauds their remarkable flight over the "top of the world," Captain George H. Kilkins and Carl Ben Eielson seem doomed today to remain at Green Harbor, Spitzbergen, until warm weather sets in.

In landing on the ice at Green Harbor after the short hop from Doed-mansoeira (Dead man's island), the fliers' Lockheed-Vega monoplane was slightly damaged.

The damage to their plane is not believed to have been serious but reports from Green Harbor indicate that the airmen were unable to make repairs with the materials at their disposal.

Spitzbergen, the ice-bound isle, is farther north than any point in Europe, cannot be reached by shipping. It is not likely that any craft will be able to negotiate the icy seas surrounding it until the middle of May. The fliers, therefore, will probably have to wait until then to get back to civilization.

Eyes on Ohio

presidential preference primaries. Inclement weather—rainy and damp—prevailed throughout the greater portion of the Buckeye state.

With but one or two exceptions, no disturbances were reported. At Cincinnati, the morning vote was reported light. This situation was attributed, in part, to rain and cold weather.

Heavy voting was reported at Cleveland where prediction was made that the Republican vote would set up a record primary vote.

The early primary vote at Toledo was light.

Columbus election officials joined with those of Marion, Lima, Mansfield and other cities in announcing a "very light" vote.

Zanesville reported a fairly heavy Republican vote in both city and rural districts. It was raining at Zanesville.

Most reports from rural sections told of a light vote.

Brown's Ruling.
Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown today ruled that election officials must tally a vote when a voter writes the name of a candidate and fails to place an x in front of the name.

This ruling was given in connection with a query from the Wyandot county election board which declared that voters were failing to make the x after writing in the names of Nelson Turner, Findlay, a Hoover candidate for delegate in the Eighteenth congressional district. Brown replied that in all such cases a vote must be counted to Turner. Brown's ruling was based upon a decision, issued by the Ohio supreme court last fall, that the mere writing in of the name was sufficient to show the "intent" of the voter and that, in such instances, it was not necessary to mark an X in front of the name.

No Democratic Opposition.
COLUMBUS, O., April 24.—Nation-wide is the interest in the presidential preference primaries held in Ohio today.

Today's election marks the termination of a pre-primary campaign of more than two months, during which supporters of the late U. S. Senator Frank B. Willis and the forces backing Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover sought control of the delegation which the Buckeye state will send to the Republican national convention, at Kansas City, in June.

Democrats today are electing the delegation to the national convention this summer at Houston. With few exceptions Democratic candidates for delegates and alternates, selected by the Democratic state committees, are unopposed.

Vote for Vice-President.

Democrats and Republicans, also, are registering their preferences for president and vice-president of the United States delegates and alternates to state conventions of these two big political parties, to be held here this summer, are being chosen at today's primaries.

Ohio Republicans are choosing between Hoover, the late Senator Willis, and Attorney Olin J. Ross, Columbus, or writing in the name of some other candidate. No candidate having qualified, many Democrats are reported writing their presidential choices on the blank ballot.

Registration of Sentiment.
The presidential preference votes cast in Ohio today merely provide for a registration of the popular sentiment prevailing in the Buckeye state. The outcome of this contest has no direct effect upon the balloting for national convention delegates and alternates.

The Ohio delegation to the Democratic national convention will comprise eight delegates-at-large and two delegates from each of the states 22 congressional districts. This delegation of 52 delegates and the same number of alternates, will be entitled to 48 votes on roll calls, the delegates-at-large being given a half-vote each, and the 44 district delegates one vote apiece.

Democratic candidates designated former U. S. Senator Alton Pomerene, Cleveland, and George White, Marietta, former Democratic national

COL. MILLER ON HIS WAY TO PRISON CELL

Former Government Official Speeds to Atlanta.

18-MONTH STAY

Wife and Children Sail for England as he Entrain.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Colonel Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, ex-member of congress and overseas World War veteran, was speeding to Atlanta today to begin service of an 18 months' sentence in the federal penitentiary.

Miller passed through Washington last night and is due at the prison this afternoon.

The former government official stood on the station platform here and chatted with friends.

Miller declined to discuss his conviction except to say that a mandate of the supreme court must be obeyed and there was no reason for him to put off the beginning of his sentence to the last minute of grace allowed by law.

Miller's last recourse to escape serving the sentence was exhausted a fortnight ago when the United States supreme court denied a writ of certiorari to review the conviction after it had been affirmed by the United States circuit court of appeals.

While Miller is at Atlanta his wife and children will spend much of the time with friends abroad. They have already sailed for England.

committeeman from Ohio, as their first and second choices, respectively, for the presidency.

51 Republican Votes.
The delegation from Ohio to the Republican national convention will include seven delegates-at-large and 44 district delegates, empowered to cast a total of 51 votes. Leaders of the Willis and Hoover forces today were predicting victory as the culmination of the struggle of these opposing camps for control of this delegation.

The Willis forces are supporting "uninstructed" candidates who originally designated Willis as their first choice for the presidency and divided their second choices among Lowden, Curtis, Watson and Charles R. Fisher, Wilmington, O.

Hoover candidates united in declaring for Hoover as their first choice and James R. Garfield, Mentor, O., as their second choice for the G. O. P. presidential nomination. Garfield is a son of the late President Garfield.

Col. Carmi A. Thompson, Cleveland, who managed the Willis campaign, today stood pat on his declaration that the Willis delegates will be elected because they will "support a Republican in the national convention of the type of Lowden, Dawes, Coolidge or Hughes."

At the same time, former Secretary of State Thad H. Brown, Columbus, manager of the Ohio campaign for Hoover, reiterated his opinion that "there is every indication that Ohioans will elect considerably more than a majority of the candidates pledged to support Herbert Hoover" and that an "overwhelming lead" will be "rolled up" for Hoover in the presidential preference contest.

Willis candidates for delegates-at-large include U. S. Senator Simeon D. Fess, Yellow Springs, who will be temporary chairman and "keynoter" at the G. O. P. national convention; Colonel Thompson; Mrs. Wilma LeVan, Steubenville, Republican national committeewoman from Ohio, and Attorney Fred W. Warner, Marion, chairman of the Republican state central committee.

Congressman Theodore E. Burton, Cleveland; Attorney Robert A. Taft, Cincinnati, former speaker of the Ohio house of representatives; Mrs. Hugh Clark, Steubenville, and General Edward Orton, Columbus, are among the Hoover candidates for delegates-at-large.

Future control of the Republican state organization may be determined at today's primaries. The Willis forces now dominate the Republican state central committee which, by a vote of 19 to 1, last February, endorsed Willis as Ohio's "favorite son" presidential candidate.

Cleveland Votes on Charter.

CLEVELAND, April 24.—With interest running high, Cleveland electors went to the polls today to vote on three ballots—the preferential ballot, delegate ballot and the city charter amendment. The latter is to decide whether Cleveland will retain the city manager form of government or return to the mayorality system in 1929.

A heavy vote—probably in the neighborhood of 45,000—was forecast by A. J. Hirstims, clerk of the election board.

Led by Colonel Carmi A. Thompson, anti-Herbert Hoover workers of Cuyahoga county, last night announced their intention of posting hundreds of challengers, picked from the United Spanish War Veterans and the Veterans of Foreign Wars in "key" precincts of Cleveland to act as challengers and observe the vote count.

Many members of the league of Women Voters also will serve as challengers at various voting places, having been granted the authority of the Cuyahoga County Democratic organization.

BODY OF OHIOAN FOUND IN WELL

TOLEDO, O., April 24.—Funeral arrangements were being completed today for H. F. Seitz, 68, whose body was found in a well in the rear of his home here late yesterday.

A verdict of accidental drowning was returned by the coroner. Seitz has suffered from dizzy spells recently, according to relatives, and is believed to have toppled into the cistern while working about it yesterday.

Seven others who are charged with being inmates of a disorderly house, will face the court.

2 DIE, 3 HURT IN AUTO WRECK

Car Bursts Into Flames After Overturning.

ASHTABULA, O., April 24.—Cecil Marks, Cleveland, and Catherine Lilley, 3, Painesville, are dead today and three other persons were suffering from serious burns, the result of an automobile accident at Geneva, near here Monday.

The injured were taken to Community hospital, Geneva, where it was said Mrs. George Lilley, mother of the dead child, might not recover. The other injured are James Nall, Cleveland, and George Lilley, father of Catherine.

Exact cause of the fatal crash could not be determined, Geneva authorities said, but it was believed the auto, which Mrs. Lilley was driving, skidded into a curb and turned over, bursting into flames. Nearby residents hearing screams, rescued four of the six occupants, but Marks and the Lilley girl were pinioned by the wreckage.

er and Under Secretary of the Treasury Ogden Mills, are openly for Hoover, but the deciding voice will be Mellon's.

Massachusetts will be regarded significantly if for no other reason than it is the home state of President Coolidge. Here the possibility of the president's candidacy intrudes itself as no other state, for persistent Coolidge backers have insisted that the Bay state send a delegation to Kansas City to insist upon drafting the president for another term. Only a few days ago, Mr. Coolidge had written a letter to Massachusetts appealing to his supporters not to write in his name in today's balloting. It is probable, however, that a good many will not heed his appeal.

Gov. Fuller is openly for Hoover and in favor of an instructed delegation to Kansas City. On the other hand, ex-Senator Wm. M. Butler, chairman of the Republican national committee, and President Coolidge's political mentor in 1924, is insistent that Massachusetts go uninstructed and unhampered by commitment.

Prince of Wales

Uses Typewriter To Copy Speeches

LONDON. — Edward, Prince of Wales, may now be added to the ranks of the "two-fingered" stenographers of the world.

Visiting a women's hotel in the East End here, the Prince watched a young stenographer rapidly write a letter.

"You can work that machine very fast," he commented. "I am afraid I could not manage it at all."

"I can only use a portable machine, and even then only write with two fingers. I am a rank amateur."

The Prince revealed he uses his small machine mostly on train journeys to make copies of speeches he had to deliver.

When Pain Comes

Two hours after eating

What many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours.

The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Get a small bottle to try.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle — any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

"New" Hat Costs Little At Royal Cleaning Shop

They Make Old Ones Look Like New; Promise
Factory Finish; Special Equipment is Used on All Work.

"Costly thy raiment as thy purse; rich, not gaudy, for the apparel oft proclaims the man." Even in the days of the Bard of Avon, they recognized the fact that it paid a man to look his best, and that because of it he generally ran across more opportunities, more chances of success, than the fellow who permitted himself to acquire that run-down-at-the-heel appearance.

And that doesn't mean that an individual has to get himself all dolled up like a chorus man, not at all!

It simply points out facts that every person who has any pride at all in their personal appearance ought to know and probably does know.

The world will honor patched trousers—if the patches are kept clean, and neatly inserted. The big idea is that the fellow who shines his shoes once in a while, keeps his clothes clean, even if they are not exactly the vogue of the moment, takes the trouble to clean his hat occasionally, and generally indicates that he has some respect for himself, will, sooner or later, earn the respect of others.

The best of it is, it's rather easy to do all this. Take the Royal Hat Cleaning parlor for instance. In the first place it's located in Market street, right off the Diamond—no excuse for missing it.

Here they clean your hat, re-block it, shine your shoes, or dye them if you want them that way, sell polishes, laces and other similar necessities, giving you these services with a courtesy that makes you want to go back again—and most of these services are for women as well as men.

"A new hat just for the cost of cleaning." This is what the Royal promises and asks just the opportunity of proving it.

Not literally, of course, but very true figuratively. At the Royal they have recently installed a new process machine for hat cleaning that is exclusive in this district. It accomplishes its work so thoroughly, with the aid of human guidance, that your hat acquires a factory finish. In cleaning these hats, the Royal uses "clean-soil," and they guarantee no odor from it. That's for felt hats.

For straw hats, panamas, etc., they have another machine. On this they can block the hat into practically any shape desired. You can get a new hat band here, too, if you want.

Shoe shining is another important service they have. During the busy periods they have eight boys working, thus eliminating waiting. In addition they have special equipment for dyeing shoes.

The Royal Hat Cleaning parlor, now known as "Pete's place," was established in 1916.

The present owners, Pericillo Petrou and Son, bought the business on March 14, 1927, and have operated it since that time.

Petrou brings to the business an experience of 15 years, gathered in some of the best hat houses in New York, Boston and other eastern centers.

Reasonable rates, quick service, satisfactory work—these are guaranteed at the Royal.

Saturday Midnight Petition Deadline

Candidates for Places on Primary Ballots May 29 Will Not be Allowed Extra Filing Day.

Candidates for nominations at the primaries on Tuesday, May 29, will not be allowed an extra day to file their petitions, according to an announcement made today by county officials. Declarations must be filed not later than Saturday midnight.

Previously it was stated that aspirants would be allowed to file up to April 30, since Sunday falls on April 29. This ruling has been set aside by the election board.

The attorney general's office has instructed election board officials to give liberal construction to the law governing absentee voting.

Two sections of the code appear to conflict. Section 102 provides that application for a ballot by an absent voter must be made to the clerk of the circuit court not more than thirty days nor less than ten days prior to the date of election, while section 105 provides that the applicant can obtain a ballot if he applies to the clerk in person not more than ten nor less than four days before the election.

Oklahoma Boasts Natural Speedway Once Salt Lake

CHEROKEE, Okla.—Near this town lies a natural speedway, which with little preparation would make one of the fastest tracks in the world. It consists of a great bed richly endowed with salt, and is probably all that remains of a salt lake. The formation extends with a hard smooth surface for more than twelve miles and is about ten miles in width.

The slab is situated in a fertile agricultural area, and is skirted by soil in a circle as perfect as a line of a lake shore. Farmers near the scene tell of wild ducks frequently mistaking the salty area for a lake and landing upon its surface.

Enemies of Jazz Music Endeavor To Halt Opera

BUDAPEST.—Not the stage but the auditorium must be illuminated when the jazz-opera "Johnny" is played in the Budapest City theatre, because whenever the lights are low, the enemies of jazz attempt to disturb the performance by throwing stink-bombs into the orchestra and the stage. The enemies of jazz are unemployed gipsy-musicians, who regard jazz as a despicable but successful competitor, and anti-semitic students, who hate "nigger-music" because niggers are a semitic race. And "Johnny" is not only containing jazz tunes, but its hero Johnny is a nigger, too.

The enemies of jazz are every night in the theatre starting a row, demonstrating and fighting the police. "But they are making a wonderful advertisement for the play, and for jazz in general," said the composer of "Johnny" the 23 years old Ernest Krenek.

Now in Full Swing and Ready for Another Big Week

MOTORISTS BY THE SCORE took off their old tires last week and are riding now on safe, new Generals.

THEY SOLD US THEIR OLD TIRES at flattering prices. We took in undersized tires from brand new cars — partly worn tires from others — some aged "blowout prospects" from some more.

LOW LEVEL PRICES on new tires—full allowances for worn tires. A tire buyers' event auguring easy sailing for the motorists and hard going for the makeshift bargain tire boys.

STOP FOR THREE MINUTES at our store and learn how little it costs to equip with Generals and know the trouble-freedom and extra mileage that other people enjoy.

INCREASES in the use of General tires exceeded that of any other tire in the world last year. Annual statements of General and the country's other great rubber factories showed this.

Aside from the top quality reputation, a big factor in General's achievement in leading the field last year was the low price of rubber which made it ridiculously foolish to look for cheap tires the way prices for good tires were—and are today.

Thousands of motorists who have always wanted Generals but believed they could not afford the slightly higher first cost, are taking advantage of present low rubber prices and this special Trade-in opportunity and buying Generals for less than they had paid for other tires, good and bad.

Trade in Every Make, Every Size--Old or New

With Our Full Value Allowance and Today's Low Rubber Prices, What's the Use of Worrying Along With the Ordinary Tire

The General Tire goes two, three and four seasons—more uninterrupted miles, two to one, than any other tire — This is because it is built from the ground up of pure new rubber and first grade fabric. A tire large and strong enough to do the job.

There are tires as bulky as General—made partly of reclaimed rubber, lubberty, loosely put together tires of inferior quality, but they are not the tires that give you the second ten thousand uninterrupted miles.

The experienced motorist knows the General is the correctly built, properly proportioned tire that makes driving safer—traveling more comfortable—that saves clothes, nerves and patience because it doesn't give out with a pinch against the curb or a bump in a bad hole—that doesn't merely protect against accidents or abuse but furnishes unlimited protection—the kind that can be had only when built into the tire itself.

This is the kind of tire you need this year, above all years—with faster speeding cars, shorter stops and more of them, and hurried get-away, you need the big, safe Dual Tread, proper size General—always the preferred tire of the big car owners who want everything the best that money can buy.

This is the tire you need today even on the lighter cars — and can buy — for your car — at less than your usual price for tires by taking advantage of this Trade-in Sale.

Hagen Will Face British 'Pro' Champ After 7,000 Mile Trip

Task May Prove Too Much for Daper Walter and Britons Probably Won't Let Him Postpone it.

By Davis J. Walsh.
NEW YORK, April 24.—Among those who seem to be indulging in the quite fashionable hobby of biting off more than they can masticate at popular prices is Walter Hagen, the well and widely dressed golfer. Hagen today is aboard the Aquitania some distance off the coast of England. He probably will do well to land at Southampton by tomorrow morning and arrive in London by tomorrow night. Thirty-six hours later he will be playing his 72 hole match with Archie Compston for the professional championship of the world, which is drawing the decision a bit fine even for a man who didn't bother about a passport until he arrived in New York the day the Aquitania sailed.

This statement, of course, does Hagen an injustice. Somebody else bothered about it when the time came. With the same insouciance, it may be that Hagen will ask for a postponement of the Compston match upon his arrival, possibly explaining to the patient British that he forgot to have one of the under-secretaries remind him of the engagement. It looks like a great spot for the British to laugh very rudely in a high falsetto. They probably will be able to recall, without great difficulty, the fact that this is the Walter Hagen who kept Abe Mitchell waiting querulously on the tee while the American was losing an hour or so going back for another can of steyncob.

Mitchell was 3 up at the time and looked the part of the ultimate winner. But he lashed himself into a lather over Hagen's tardiness, proceeded to blow apart in widely varied directions and the British decided that some one had called a third strike on them while they were out of the batter's box, dusting their hands. After deliberating the matter for three days, this suspicion became an absolute certainty and Hagen was invited to consider himself no gentleman until further notice.

Yes, the Compston match looks like the spot for the British to break right down and laugh. The fact of the matter is that they never have come around to the matter of Hagen and many of them have been known to admit that they never really have gone so far as to try.

Compston has been playing steadily and is supposed to be "hot." Hagen, having indulged in no tournament golf this winter, is just finishing a 7,000-mile trip by land and water on the eve of the match. If the British can't beat him under these conditions, there will be nothing for them to do but admit that it just isn't in them.

Stops Youngstown Boy In Main Bout at F. O. E.

Porto and Wallace Draw in Six-round Semi-final; Edwards and Mitchell Even; Davis Victor in Opener.

Knocking out the harmless looking Tommy Murphy of Youngstown after a minute or so of gestures in the second round of their scheduled eight-round wind-up, Al Kendlar, the gorilla-like Alliance welter, gave F. O. E. fight followers an object lesson last night in the evils of substitutions.

And, as a result of that fight, or exhibition, or whatever it may be called, it is hereby recommended that "Box" Ryan, Nick Susnell, and any and all of that variety of boxers who hold the reputation of promoters in such light regard that they can run out on a fight and practically ruin a show at the last minute, or even before that, be wiped of the lists, so far as local engagements are concerned.

Such action doubtless wouldn't hurt those boxers, much, and by the same reasoning it wouldn't do any harm to the future of boxing in East Liverpool.

Kendlar and Susnell were first scheduled to fight here several weeks ago. In fact the match was made before the last Taylor-Piazza clash in the local ring. Kendlar observed the date, prepared for it and held it. Several days ago, Friday to be exact, Susnell notified Matchmaker McDonough that he would not be able to go through with the fight—that he had hurt his hand or something. McDonough at the time suspected that that was not the real reason but, having little time to discuss the matter pro and con, he endeavored to fill Susnell's shoes and signed Ryan. There's no question that Ryan would have made a good mate for Kendlar.

The Pittsburgher, however, failed to appear yesterday afternoon along with the rest of the scrappers and was still missing when the opening preliminary went on.

Along toward the middle of the second preliminary when Edwards and Mitchell were doing their stuff, Matchmaker McDonough was notified that Ryan would not be able to fill the engagement.

So this Tommy Murphy, who accompanied Young Billy Wallace from Youngstown, agreed to go on against Kendlar. He lasted less than a round and a half.

He came out in the opener and appeared quite willing to mix with the Alliance boy. In a tangle on the ropes toward the end of the round, Kendlar slammed Murphy to the canvas but the latter came up in two or three seconds and fought out the round.

But he got in the way of one of Kendlar's vicious right swings in the second and slopped to the canvas again. In fact he stayed there for several minutes after the bout had ended.

Frankie Porto of McKeesport and Young Billy Wallace of Youngstown fought six rounds to a draw in the semi-final, both covering, holding and blocking so consistently and effectively that there were few clean, solid blows struck during the entire half-dozen rounds.

The scrap also developed plenty of wrestling, shoving and pulling. Wallace did not show so effectively last night as he did in his previous appearance. Porto followed his customary style, ducking and crouching in close quarters and tying up his man well in the clinches. Wallace would have been effective unquestionably at open range but Porto did not permit any stand-off-and-punch play. There was very little to choose between them at the end of the scrap.

Wallace earned a shade in the first round and Porto took the fourth. Aside from that neither could claim any outstanding advantage.

In the second Wallace claimed a foul, charging Porto had struck him low. They shook mitts and resumed warfare. In the third again Wallace claimed Porto was hitting him low in the infighting, but Referee Al Watson of Beaver Falls moved him into the center of the ring. Apparently enraged, Wallace tore in like a young bull and the mixing was lively for a few seconds.

In the fifth Wallace rapped Porto into one of the corner posts and a few seconds later Porto slammed Wallace through the ropes. In each instance, there was more shoving than clean hitting for, in either case, a blow struck with sufficient force to produce similar effects would have stopped the battle then and there.

Considered from all angles, fan interest, action and the willingness of participants to punch till they dropped, the four-round preliminary between Freddy Edwards of Chester and Ray Mitchell of East Liverpool for the district welter title was last night's headliner.

A congressional investigating committee might be called in to determine the winner, but they nor one else, could go far wrong in awarding the two boys a draw after their untiring efforts.

It was the hardest fight that Edwards has ever had in the local ring. In fact, toward the close the West Virginian was perilously on the verge of going somewhere. On the other hand Mitchell was down on the canvas from one of Edwards' thumps in the early stages and possessed not too much vim and vigor at the close.

Both boys fought a hard battle. There was no attempt to conserve resources. They both plunged in and fought. One suspects that this Mitchell boy has grown a little foxier or has had some tutoring since his previous performances in the Eagles' ring. At any rate, he looked considerably better than he ever has before.

Edwards' forceful attack that shot Mitchell back on the ropes and ultimately dropped him for a short count gave the West Virginian the second round.

Mitchell's leading and driving power in the third gave him an edge there. Edwards, toward the close of this round, appeared exhausted and unable to summon the power to punch.

Both were rather tottery in the fourth but they continued to swing their gloves at each other. Both, apparently, had lost their punch after the second round.

Kenny Davis of East Liverpool, 120, earned the decision over K. O. Trella, of Steubenville, announced at the same weight, in the best curtain raiser that has graced the F. O. E. canvas this season.

Davis' reach gave him a slight advantage over the Steubenville pug and he used it to good advantage. Davis floored Trella for a short count in the second and again in the third, but the sturdy little Steubenville lad was unharmed.

RULE "ACE" MUST FIGHT DUNDEE

NEW YORK, April 24.—Unless Ace Hudkins informs the new York boxing commission today that he will go through with his bout with Joe Dundee, the "Nebraska Wildcat" will be deposited by the commission from his position as the welterweight champion's leading challenger in this state. Hudkins is believed to have deserted the welterweight division in order to take a crack at Mickey Walker's middleweight crown.

Brownie Discards Look Good

Castoffs Hand Tribe Trimming by 4-2 Count.

By Lee Conklin.
NEW YORK, April 24.—Dan Howley, genial pilot of the St. Louis Browns, is one of those geniuses who can shuffle the discards of a poker deck and deal himself a winning layout. No less than six of the nine St. Louis players who handed Cleveland a 4 to 2 trimming yesterday were discarded by other major league clubs. They are McNeeley, O'Rourke, Manush, Blue, Schang and Gray.

Supported by Kress and Brannon, the rookie Keystone combination, and Schulte, a second year man, these veterans are keeping the Browns in the race. Gray, who once won something like ten straight games for Connie Mack, already has turned in three victories this season.

Owens Carroll, Detroit's ex-colleague, gained a 3 to 0 decision in a mound duel with Connolly of the White Sox. Cissell, Chicago's $135,000 shortstop, contributed a ten cent wild throw which staked the Tigers to two runs.

The western clubs in the National loop appear to be evenly matched at the present moment. Pittsburgh swamped the Cubs yesterday, 6 to 0, and the Reds shaded the Cardinals, 3 to 2. Ray Kremer, Pirate pitching ace, held the Cubs to three hits and won with the aid of five hits by the Waner brothers.

Three St. Louis errors helped the Reds score all their runs in the third.

FAVOR SHARKEY TO LICK DELANEY

NEW YORK, April 24.—Jack Sharkey, Boston heavyweight, is a 7 to 5 favorite to defeat Jack Delaney, former light heavyweight champion, in their fifteen-round bout here next Monday.

Stolen Idols

A Romance of the Sea
By Frank L. Packard.

"But he did not touch the treasure, for he trusted not his men who sailed with him in the junk. Therefore he made measurements and note of where the treasure lay, and that he might not forget, and that no one else might read what he wrote, he set down all these things in secret writing, and returned to the junk, and set sail for Singapore to make plans for a voyage back again in another vessel with only such men as he feared not to trust. But, Sahib, on the next day, he was stricken down with so sore an attack of a malady he had had for many years that he knew the end was near. And then because death was approaching, and because the course of the junk lay past Kalawa, he remembered Kingsley Sahib, and, wishing to die in peace with Kingsley Sahib, he gave orders that the junk go to Kalawa and that he be taken to Kingsley Sahib's house.

"All these things, Sahib, he told Kingsley Sahib as I, Mindar Singh, listened. And there came sorrow and pain into Kingsley Sahib's face, for Hsi Yan fought for his breath that he might speak, and blood came always upon Hsi Yan's lips. And many times Kingsley Sahib made offer to aid Hsi Yan, but Hsi Yan would not suffer it. And all this time Hsi Yan had not named the place where the treasure had been found; but now he placed upon the table two little idols that were carved in ivory, and so alike that one could not be told from the other. Then, Sahib, from beneath the hands of each idol he took a small piece of paper upon which was the secret writing he had made. And the writing on one paper could not be read without that which was on the other paper, and Hsi Yan told Kingsley Sahib how the secret writing could be read so that Kingsley Sahib should find the treasure that—"

Bob Kingsley was on his feet. "You heard that?" he cried excitedly. "You know what's in that cipher?"

Mindar Singh shook his head. "Sahib," he answered gravely, "I do not know the words of the secret writing, for they were not spoken that night, and, because of what I have still to tell, the writing was not made into English by Kingsley Sahib; but with that which I have now got I know how the writing may be read."

"Now go!" exclaimed Bob Kingsley. "What do you mean by that? What is it that you've got, Mindar Singh?"

"I will tell the Sahib in a minute," replied Mindar Singh; "unless—deferentially—I is the Sahib's wish that I go first now to the end of the tale itself?"

"No! All right!" Bob Kingsley jerked out. "Tell it your own way, Mindar Singh!"

Mindar Singh again inclined his head.

"Thus, then, it was, Sahib," he said. "At the moment that Hsi Yan had made an end of telling Kingsley Sahib how the secret writing might be read, I, Mindar Singh, saw more than the glitter of a man's eyes that I had seen before through the palings of the veranda rail. Sahib, I saw I know not how many of the Chinese dogs begin to creep over the veranda rail, and in their hands, Sahib, they carried weapons—but they made no sound. And the I, Mindar Singh, gave a cry to warn Kingsley Sahib, and even as I cried out I ran with all my strength across the room, and I closed the door to the veranda upon the Chinese, but they were so close then, Sahib, that their faces were not a hand's-breadth away as I made fast the doors. And then, Sahib, there came to my ears a sound the like of which I never hear again. The Sahib ever heard the laughter of a dying man? I know not where he got the strength, but Hsi Yan was sitting upright on the couch, and he swayed with laughter till the tears from his eyes ran down his cheeks and mingled with the blood upon his lips. And to me, Mindar Singh, who had closed the doors, he cried out, as he laughed, that I was too late.

"Sahib, they began to beat upon the doors, and to fire shots through them, for the wood was thin; and I gave to Kingsley Sahib one of the revolvers, and Kingsley Sahib and I, Mindar Singh, fired in return at the doors. But in our ears was always the laughter of Hsi Yan and the screaming of his voice as he taunted Kingsley Sahib. Sahib, could I forget his words? 'The treasure is true and greater even than I have told you, Captain Tom,' he screamed at Kingsley Sahib; 'but it is one you will never have! And because it has brought about this hour, it is of greater worth to me, who will not have it either, than if I had carried it away from its hiding place. Did you think, because I have let the years go by, that I had forgotten, or that I would ever forget? Did you think that Hsi Yan would not keep his word? In my delirium on the junk I talked of the treasure I had found, and in the moments when my mind was clear and I was able to walk a little about the junk, I heard men talking when they thought I was not near, and I knew that I had babbled of the treasure, but had not told where it was hidden. So knowing that I would die of my illness, I found means of turning to account what they had heard, and I pretended delirium when my mind was clear, and I talked of Tom Kingsley of Kalawa, a man to whom I owed a great debt, and who would share the secret and the treasure with me. And then, at a time when they knew my mind was clear, I gave orders for the junk to steer for Kalawa. And they laughed behind my back. But I gave no sign that I knew I had spoken of the treasure. They would not come ashore and murder here only because I might so order them to do, but they would murder gladly if there were greed enough in their hearts—and their greed was now great. And gladly, too, they would have murdered me on the junk for the secret, but they knew they could not get it from me. And so I have brought them to Kalawa, and they have listened to the tale, as I meant that they should listen so that all doubt might be driven from their minds if any remained, and they have seen the idols, for they have been hiding out there where they could see and listen all the time—as I knew they would—and now they kill that they may possess the secret and silence the tongue of the only man who could tell of the treasure, for my life is already at an end. I am here, Captain Tom! I, Hsi Yan, am here at the end! Did I not say that some day I would come and watch you die?"

CHAPTER 43.

Bob Kingsley's hands gripped at the table edge. "Great God!" he whispered from between set teeth. "The vengeance of Hsi Yan! The man could have been born out of no other place than the pit of hell itself!" "Hahib," said Mindar Singh with tightened lips, "I was in my mind that in very truth it was the devil who came in disguise upon the earth. It has taken long to tell the words of Hsi Yan, but they seemed not long on the lips of Hsi Yan that night. Sahib, even while Hsi Yan spoke we were firing at the doors where those from the junk had upon them. And Kingsley Sahib made no answer to Hsi Yan, save that once he turned his revolver upon the other, and it was in mind that Hsi Yan's death would be hastened by the few minutes that the sickness might yet grant him before the end. But Kingsley Sahib did not fire. Instead, he swept the two white idols from the table to his pocket, and upturned the table for a barricade, and from behind the table Kingsley Sahib, and I, Mindar Singh, fired our shots at the doors.

"And now Hsi Yan lay without movement upon the couch, but I do not know if he were then already dead. And the attack grew still more fierce upon the doors and the bullets came more thickly, and Kingsley Sahib was wounded in the leg. Then Kingsley Sahib spoke. 'They will come upon us from the other parts of the house in a little while, and we shall be cornered like rats,' he said. 'Run, then, Mindar Singh, into the next room, for I am wounded, and, while I hold these doors push hard upon the middle panel of the three that are between the desk and the side wall. There is a door hidden there, but it has not been opened for many years and it may not yield easily or at once, so push with all your strength. When you have got it open let it be known to me, and in that way we will make our escape, for there is a passage below the ground that leads a long way from the house. Run, Mindar Singh, run—and work quickly.'"

Brake and Headlight Tests Urged by Diehl

Motor Club Secretary Asks Columbiana County Automobile Owners to Comply With Governor's Proclamation.

The Columbiana County Motor club, through Secretary E. M. Diehl, has issued an appeal to automobile owners urging that they cooperate in the brake testing and headlight adjusting campaign which is being conducted through Ohio this week—Safety Week. Governor A. V. Donahey has issued a proclamation setting aside the week of April 23-28 for the brake and headlight inspection campaign. The chief executive has appealed to mayors, police departments, fire departments, public utilities, industrial and civic organizations, automobile dealers, garages and service stations to assist in "this humanitarian movement."

The governor's proclamation strikes at the automobile driver whose car has but one headlight. Police are directed to halt such motorists and warn them that they are violating the law and subject to arrest.
